

Your Key to the House

A free community guide to the House of Representatives was launched by the Speaker of the House, the Hon Neil Andrew MP, at the Adelaide Convention Centre on 12 November. The guide, entitled Your Key to the House, provides people with much useful information about the House of Representatives and its work.

The aim of the guide is not only to inform people about how the House operates, but also to let people know about how they can participate in the work of the House.

Included in the guide are sections on how laws are made, who's who in the House and what happens when the House meets. There is also detailed information on how people can follow proceedings in the House, what parliamentary committees do, and how you can have your say in relation to the House.

The guide brings together information from a variety of sources, all in one easy to follow booklet illustrated with images from the House. It includes information on how you can contact the House to have your questions answered.

Best of all, the guide is free and can be ordered from:
