

APLA

celebrates

its 10th birthday

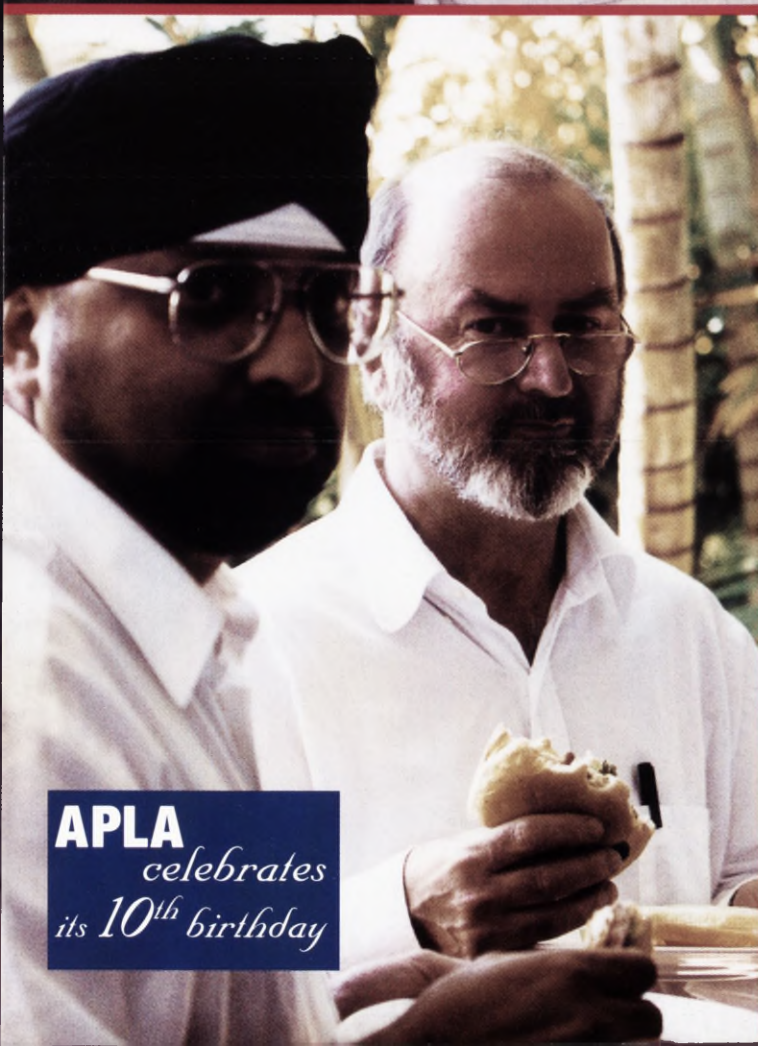

Above: Former National Presidents, Dr Peter Cashman (left) and John Gordon.
Above right: Former National President, Peter Carter.

Left: Founding National President, Peter Semmler (left), with Richard Hailey, the then President of ATLA, at APLA's 1997 National Conference in Coolumb.

Above right: Simon Garnett (left), current Victorian President and Director, with Geoff Coates, long-standing MC at APLA national conferences and former Victorian Committee member and editor of Plaintiff.

Below left: Former Western Australian President, Sukhwant Singh (left), and former national President, Dr Peter Cashman.

Below: Current National President, Tom Goudkamp (left), with President-elect, Richard Faulks.

APLA celebrates
its 10th birthday

Top: APLA member, Maurie Stack (left), former federal Attorney-General, former Secretary-General of the Law Council of Australia and current Dean of QUT law school, Michael Lavarch (centre), and Rob Davis (right).

Above left: Former NSW President and editor of Plaintiff, Bill Madden.

Above right: Ian Brown (left), current Queensland Director and former Queensland President, with current National President, Tom Goudkamp, and Audrey Jamieson, former Victorian President and current Victorian Committee member.

Right: Dr Peter Cashman with Frances McCarthy, former President of the Association of Personal Injury Lawyers (APIL), UK.

APLA celebrates
its 10th birthday

Right (from left to right):
Staff member, Simon
McGregor, NSW
conference delegate
and APLA member, Fiona Campbell, and Peter Semmler.

Centre right: Jane Staley, former APLA CEO, with Richard Faulks.

Below (from left to right):
Former APLA staffers,
Tamara Dickson,
Frances Dickson,
Lyndal Hayward,
Jane Staley, Eva Scheerlinck (who's still with us as our current CEO!), Thea Bray and Anna Munro.

