

John Metcalfe Memorial Function

A MEMORIAL FUNCTION in honour of the late John Wallace Metcalfe was held in the Galleries of the State Library of New South Wales on the evening of Friday, 16 April. The evening was arranged by the LAA with assistance from its NSW Branch.

The President of the Association, Miss Judith Baskin, welcomed friends, colleagues and associates of Mr Metcalfe, and introduced the four speakers.

Miss Wilma Radford, Mr Harrison Bryan, Mr Allan Horton and Mrs Margaret Trask spoke of John Metcalfe, the founder of the LAA, and its first President, Chairman of the Board of Examiners and editor of Australian Library Journal, Principal Librarian of the Public Library of NSW (now the State Library of NSW), founder of the first school of librarianship at an Australian university, nationally and internationally acknowledged leader in his field. The texts of these addresses may be published later this year.

A number of speakers from the gathering shared their personal recollections and indebtedness to Mr Metcalfe.

The following special resolution was then read by the LAA General Secretary, Miss Averill Edwards:

Resolved that the Library Association of Australia acknowledges the contribution made by John Metcalfe to the development of libraries and archives throughout Australia, and in particular to his work leading to establishing the Australian Institute of Librarians, which, under his guidance, became the Library Association of Australia. He worked tirelessly for the Association. He was, at different times, its Foundation General Secretary, Chairman of its Board of Examiners, first Editor of the Australian Library Journal and its President. When the Association created the H.C.L. Anderson Award he was the first recipient.

The Association also places on record the debt of the profession generally to John Metcalfe as a thinker and theoretician of international repute, as an irresistible advocate of professional standards and as a formidable administrator. His work for the development of public libraries was the most visible of his achievements, its importance is more than matched by the initiation of other developments in libraries and archives. He was influential in the creation of the Australian Advisory Council on Bibliographical Services.

John Metcalfe will also be remembered by many as a source of professional inspiration. His formal and informal teaching had a significant effect.

The loss to the profession is only matched by the great legacy he has left us.

Those wishing to express their support for the ideals and services promoted by John Metcalfe may like to make a contribution to the John Metcalfe Scholarship Fund.

Contributions should be forwarded to Miss Wilma Radford, c/- School of Librarianship, University of New South Wales, PO Box 1, Kensington, NSW 2033.
