

ANNO QUINQUAGESIMO NONO ET SEXAGESIMO

VICTORIÆ REGINÆ.

A.D. 1896.

No. 659.

An Act to amend "The Quarantine Act, 1877."

[Assented to, December 19th, 1896.]

BE it Enacted by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Parliament of South Australia, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as "The Quarantine Act Amendment Act, 1896," and shall be incorporated with "The Quarantine Act, 1877."

Short title and incorporation.

2. No person or thing shall land or be landed from any vessel arriving by sea from parts beyond the province at any port or place in South Australia before the Health Officer has granted a clean bill of health in respect of such vessel without a permit from the President of the Central Board of Health.

Persons not to land from vessels until pratique granted.

3. If, before the Health Officer has granted a clean bill of health in respect of such vessel, any person shall land from such vessel, or shall leave such vessel for the purpose of landing, or shall land or remove for the purpose of landing, or be concerned in landing or removing for the purpose of landing anything from such vessel, or the master of such vessel shall suffer or permit any person to land from such vessel, or to leave such vessel for the purpose of landing, or shall suffer or permit anything to be landed from such vessel, or removed from such vessel for the purpose of being landed, without a permit from the President of the Central Board of Health, he shall be liable to a penalty of not more than One Hundred Pounds.

Penalty for breach of Act.

4. The

The Quarantine Act Amendment Act.—1896.

Exemption.

4. The Governor may, by Proclamation published in the Government Gazette, exempt any vessels or class of vessels, and all persons and things on board of such vessels, from the provisions of sections 2 and 3 of this Act, and may in like manner revoke any such Proclamation, either wholly or part.

In the name and on behalf of Her Majesty, I hereby assent to this Bill.

T. F. BUXTON, Governor.