

DIPLOMATIC PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES BILL

EXPLANATORY NOTE

THIS Bill replaces the Diplomatic Immunities and Privileges Act 1957. Its purpose is to give effect, so far as legislation is necessary, to the provisions of the 1961 Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations.

Previously, diplomatic privileges and immunities had been a matter of uncodified international law and practice, which was reviewed at the United Nations Vienna Conference in 1961. The resultant Convention now provides a modern code governing the treatment of diplomats and diplomatic missions. The Convention does not deal with the privileges and immunities of international organisations and persons connected with such organisations, nor does it deal with consular privileges or immunities.

A copy of the English text of the Convention appears in the First Schedule to the Bill.

The principal purpose of this Bill is to give effect to the Convention, and provisions for this purpose appear in Part I. Part II (relating to the privileges and immunities of international organisations), Part III (relating to consular privileges and immunities), and Part IV (relating to miscellaneous matters) largely re-enact the existing provisions, with some changes which are referred to in this explanatory note.

Clause 1 relates to the Short Title and commencement. The Act will come into force on 1 January 1969.

Clause 2 defines the term "Minister" for the purposes of the Bill.

PART I

DIPLOMATIC PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES

Clause 3 is an interpretation clause, defining for the purpose of this Part the terms "Convention" and "mission". Certain terms defined in the Convention have the same meanings in this Part.

Clause 4 declares that this Part replaces any previous enactment and the rules of the common law in force relating to matters provided for in this Part.

Under the existing law the immunities of foreign envoys, their families, members of their official staff, and the families of such members are covered by the rules of the common law and by the Diplomatic Immunities and Privileges Act 1957. Commonwealth representatives and persons similarly connected with them are entitled to the same immunities as are enjoyed by a foreign envoy and his official staff and their families. By that Act, the fiscal privileges of persons entitled to diplomatic immunity are fixed by the Minister of Finance.

This Part of the Bill makes no distinction between foreign envoys and Commonwealth representatives and persons connected with them. They are all treated generally as members of diplomatic missions.

Clause 5: Subclause (1) declares that Articles 1, 22 to 24, and 27 to 40 of the Convention shall have the force of law in New Zealand. The effect of this is that diplomatic missions (whether foreign or Commonwealth), heads of missions, their families, their staff, and the families of their staff will have the privileges and immunities provided for in those Articles.

Subclause (2) provides that, without prejudice to subclause (1), the Minister of External Affairs, with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance, may determine the fiscal privileges which shall be accorded to any mission or persons connected with any mission, notwithstanding that the determination may extend treatment more favourable than that required by the Convention, and may in like manner determine the terms and conditions on which those privileges may be enjoyed.

Subclause (3) provides that, in order to give effect to any custom or agreement by which New Zealand and any other State extend to each other treatment more favourable than that required to give effect to the Convention, the Governor-General may, by Order in Council, declare that a mission of that State and persons connected with that mission shall be accorded such immunities as are specified in the order. Such an arrangement is permissible by paragraph 2 (b) of Article 47 of the Convention.

Subclause (4) is an interpretation provision making it clear that under subclauses (2) and (3) privileges and immunities may be accorded to persons who under the Convention are entitled only to such privileges or immunities as are admitted by the receiving State. See, for example, paragraph 4 of Article 37 and paragraph 2 of Article 38 of the Convention.

Subclause (5) will enable immunity to be waived in the case of persons accorded immunity who are not diplomatic agents or persons enjoying immunity under Article 37 of the Convention. The immunity from jurisdiction of diplomatic agents and of persons enjoying immunity under Article 37 may, under Article 32, be waived by the sending State, and this subclause applies the same provisions in the case of other persons accorded immunity.

Subclause (6) is a machinery provision.

Clause 6 provides that the members of the administrative and technical staff, and members of the service staff, of a mission who are New Zealand citizens or are permanently resident in New Zealand shall be accorded immunity from jurisdiction, and inviolability, in respect of official acts performed in the exercise of their functions.

Clause 7 enables diplomatic privileges and immunities to be withdrawn from a diplomatic mission of an overseas country, in whole or in part, when equal treatment is not accorded to a New Zealand mission in that country.

PART II

PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANISATIONS AND PERSONS CONNECTED THEREWITH

THIS Part re-enacts the existing provisions of Part II of the Diplomatic Immunities and Privileges Act 1957, by which diplomatic immunities and privileges may be accorded to international organisations and their staffs, Judges of and suitors to the International Court of Justice, and representatives of overseas countries attending international conferences in New Zealand.

The only changes are drafting changes necessary to conform to the new provisions in Part I of the Bill.

PART III

CONSULAR PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES

As mentioned earlier in this note, the Vienna Convention does not relate to consular privileges and immunities. At present, immunities of foreign consular officers are governed by the rules of the common law, consular immunity may be conferred on Commonwealth consular officers by regulations, and fiscal privileges are determined by the Minister of Finance under section 9 of the Diplomatic Immunities and Privileges Act 1957.

This Part re-enacts those provisions, the only material changes being—

- (a) The fiscal consular privileges are to be determined by the Minister of External Affairs with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance.
- (b) Clause 18 is a new provision enabling the withdrawal, modification, or restriction of privileges and immunities conferred in relation to consular officers of a foreign State or to persons connected with them, if equal treatment is not accorded New Zealand consular officers and persons connected with him in the foreign State concerned.

PART IV

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Clause 19 re-enacts the existing provisions enabling overseas Governments (whether foreign or Commonwealth) and representatives of such Governments and other overseas authorities to be granted exemption from taxation, but the exemptions are to be granted by the Minister of External Affairs with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance, instead of by the Minister of Finance.

Clause 20 re-enacts existing machinery provisions relating to the granting of exemptions from taxation.

Subclause (2) re-enacts provisions that the power to grant exemptions from taxation to persons entitled to consular privileges and to persons referred to in clause 19 includes power on the death of any such person to exempt his estate from estate duty and from fees and stamp duty payable in connection with the administration of the estate.

Clause 21 re-enacts the existing provisions as to the power to compensate local authorities and others suffering loss through the granting of any fiscal privilege to diplomatic missions and persons connected therewith, to international organisations and persons connected therewith, to representatives attending international conferences in New Zealand, to consular officers, to other Governments, and to other persons to whom clause 19 applies.

Clause 22 re-enacts existing provisions that in any proceedings a certificate by the Minister of External Affairs stating any fact relevant to any question as to immunity shall be conclusive evidence of that fact, and extends that provision to apply to privileges also.

Clause 23 re-enacts the existing provisions that pending legal proceedings are not affected by the Bill.

Clause 24 provides for the making of regulations.

Clause 25 applies the Act to Niue and the Tokelau Islands.

Clause 26 provides for consequential repeals.

BE IT ENACTED by the General Assembly of New Zealand in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, 5

1. Short Title and commencement—(1) This Act may be cited as the Diplomatic Privileges and Immunities Act 1968.

(2) This Act shall come into force on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and sixty-nine. 10

2. Meaning of “Minister”—In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the term “Minister” means the Minister of External Affairs.

PART I

DIPLOMATIC PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES 15

3. Interpretation—In this Part of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

“The Convention” means the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations signed in 1961, a copy of the English text of which is set out in the First Schedule to this Act: 20

“Mission” means a diplomatic mission of any State: Expressions defined in Article 1 of the Convention have the meanings so defined.

4. Application of this Part—The provisions of this Part of this Act shall, with respect to the matters dealt with therein, have effect in substitution for any previous enactment or rule of law in force in New Zealand immediately before the commencement of this Act. 25

5. Diplomatic privileges and immunities—(1) Subject to subsection (6) of this section, the provisions of Articles 1, 22 to 24, and 27 to 40 of the Convention shall have the force of law in New Zealand. 30

(2) Without prejudice to the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, the Minister, with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance, may from time to time determine, either generally or in any case or class of case, the fiscal privileges which shall
5 be accorded to any mission or persons connected with any mission, notwithstanding that the determination may extend treatment more favourable than that required by the provisions of the Convention, and may in like manner determine the terms and conditions on which those privileges may be 10 enjoyed.

(3) For the purpose of giving effect to any custom or agreement by which New Zealand and any other State extend to each other treatment more favourable than is required by the provisions of the Convention, the Governor-General may from 15 time to time, by Order in Council, declare that a mission of that State and persons connected with that mission shall be accorded such immunity from jurisdiction, and inviolability, as are specified in the order:

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall apply with 20 respect to persons to whom section 6 of this Act applies.

(4) In subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the expression "treatment more favourable" includes the according of privileges or immunities, as the case may be, to persons who
25 under the Convention may enjoy privileges and immunities only to the extent admitted by the receiving State.

(5) Where by or by virtue of this Act immunity from jurisdiction is accorded to persons who are not diplomatic agents or persons enjoying immunity under Article 37 of the Convention, the immunity accorded to those first-mentioned
30 persons may be waived in the manner and subject to the conditions specified in Article 32 of the Convention, and the waiver shall have the same consequences as a waiver under that Article.

(6) For the purposes of the provisions of the Articles
35 referred to in subsection (1) of this section,—

- (a) A reference in those provisions to the receiving State shall be construed as a reference to New Zealand:
- (b) A reference in those provisions to a national of the receiving State shall be construed as a reference to a 40 New Zealand citizen:
- (c) The reference in paragraph 1 of Article 22 to agents of the receiving State shall be construed as including a reference to any constable and any person exercising a power of entry to premises:

- (d) The reference in Article 32 to waiver by the sending State shall be construed as including a waiver by the head of the mission of the sending State or by a person for the time being performing the functions of the head of mission: 5
- (e) Articles 35, 36, and 40 shall be construed as granting the privileges or immunities that those Articles require to be granted:
- (f) The reference in paragraph 1 of Article 36 to such laws and regulations as the receiving State may adopt shall be construed as including a reference to any law in force in New Zealand relating to the quarantine, or the prohibition or restriction of the importation into, or the exportation from, New Zealand of animals, plants, or goods: 10 15
- Provided that any immunity from jurisdiction that a person may possess or enjoy by virtue of subsection (1) of this section shall not be prejudiced:
- (g) The reference in paragraph 4 of Article 37 to the extent to which privileges and immunities are admitted by the receiving State, and the reference in paragraph 1 of Article 38 to any additional privileges and immunities that may be granted by the receiving State, shall, so far as they relate to privileges, be construed as references to such determinations as may be made by the Minister pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, and, so far as they relate to immunities, be construed as references to such immunities as may be conferred by an Order in Council under subsection (3) of this section: 20 25 30
- (h) The reference in paragraph 2 of Article 38 to the extent to which privileges and immunities are admitted by the receiving State shall, so far as it relates to privileges, be construed as a reference to such determinations as may be made by the Minister pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, and, so far as it relates to immunities, be construed, in relation to persons to whom section 6 of this Act applies, as a reference to immunities conferred by that section, and, in relation to other persons to whom that paragraph applies, as a reference to such immunities as may be conferred by an Order in Council under subsection (3) of this section: 35 40

(i) The reference in paragraph 1 of Article 39 to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs or such other Ministry as may be agreed shall be construed as a reference to the Department of External Affairs.

5 Cf. 1957, No. 21, ss. 3-5, 7, 9 (1) (b), (c), (g)-(i), (2)-(5)

6. Immunities of certain members of the staff of a mission who are New Zealand citizens or residents—The members of the administrative and technical staff, and mem-
10 bers of the service staff, of a mission who are New Zealand citizens or are permanently resident in New Zealand shall be accorded immunity from jurisdiction, and inviolability, in respect of official acts performed in the exercise of their functions.

15 Cf. 1957, No. 21, s. 10

7. Withdrawal of diplomatic privileges and immunities—

(1) Where the Governor-General is satisfied that the privileges and immunities accorded in relation to a mission of New Zealand in any State, or to persons connected with that mission,
20 are less than those conferred by or by virtue of this Part of this Act in relation to the mission of that State, or to persons connected with that mission, he may, by Order in Council, withdraw, modify, or restrict, in relation to that mission or to persons connected with that mission, such of the privileges and 25 immunities so conferred to such extent as appears to him to be proper.

(2) Any Order in Council under subsection (1) of this section shall be disregarded for the purposes of paragraph (a) of the proviso to section 6 of the British Nationality and 30 New Zealand Citizenship Act 1948 (which relates to the citizenship of the children of certain persons possessing diplomatic immunities).

25 the extent to which the representatives of those Governments (other than the Government of New Zealand) and members of their official staffs are entitled to privileges and immunities,—

30 the Minister may, by notice in the Gazette, direct that every representative of any such Government (other than the Government of New Zealand) shall be accorded such of the privileges and immunities conferred by or by virtue of Part I of this Act on a diplomatic agent as the Minister specifies, and

18. Withdrawal of consular privileges and immunities—

(1) Where the Governor-General is satisfied that the privileges and immunities accorded in relation to consular officers of New Zealand in any foreign State, or to persons connected with them, are less than those conferred by the law of New Zealand in relation to consular officers of that State, or to persons connected with them, he may, by Order in Council, withdraw, modify, or restrict, in relation to consular officers of that State or to persons connected with them, such of the privileges and immunities so conferred to such extent as appears to him to be proper. 10 15

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1) of this section, a person shall be deemed to be connected with a consular officer if he is a member of the consular officer's family, or a member of his official or domestic staff, or a member of the family or of the domestic staff of a member of the consular officer's official staff. 20
